

Website Planning Doc

Website Goal

My goal in creating the University of South Carolina Honors College website is to display clear and concise information for current students, parents, prospective students, and other interested parties. Additionally, I want this information to be displayed in a way that is both intuitive and beautiful using design principles while constructing the site.

Expected Results

This website is expected to include the following pages.

Index: Home page. This page will include basic information about SCHC. It will likely include the largest, most eye-catching media on the website. Additionally, I expect this page to have the most links to other areas of the website.

About: This page will have information about the UofSC Honors program. This will include general information such as founding year, membership size, and notable alumni.

Courses offered: This page will include a list or table of classes offered for spring 2022.

Apply: On this page, there will be a short form to act as an “application” for SCHC. I’m expecting this form to contain all kinds of questions that may be asked on the real application, including long answer and multiple-choice questions.

Calendar: This page will include another list or table that will depict events open to current and prospective Honors College students.

Necessary Information

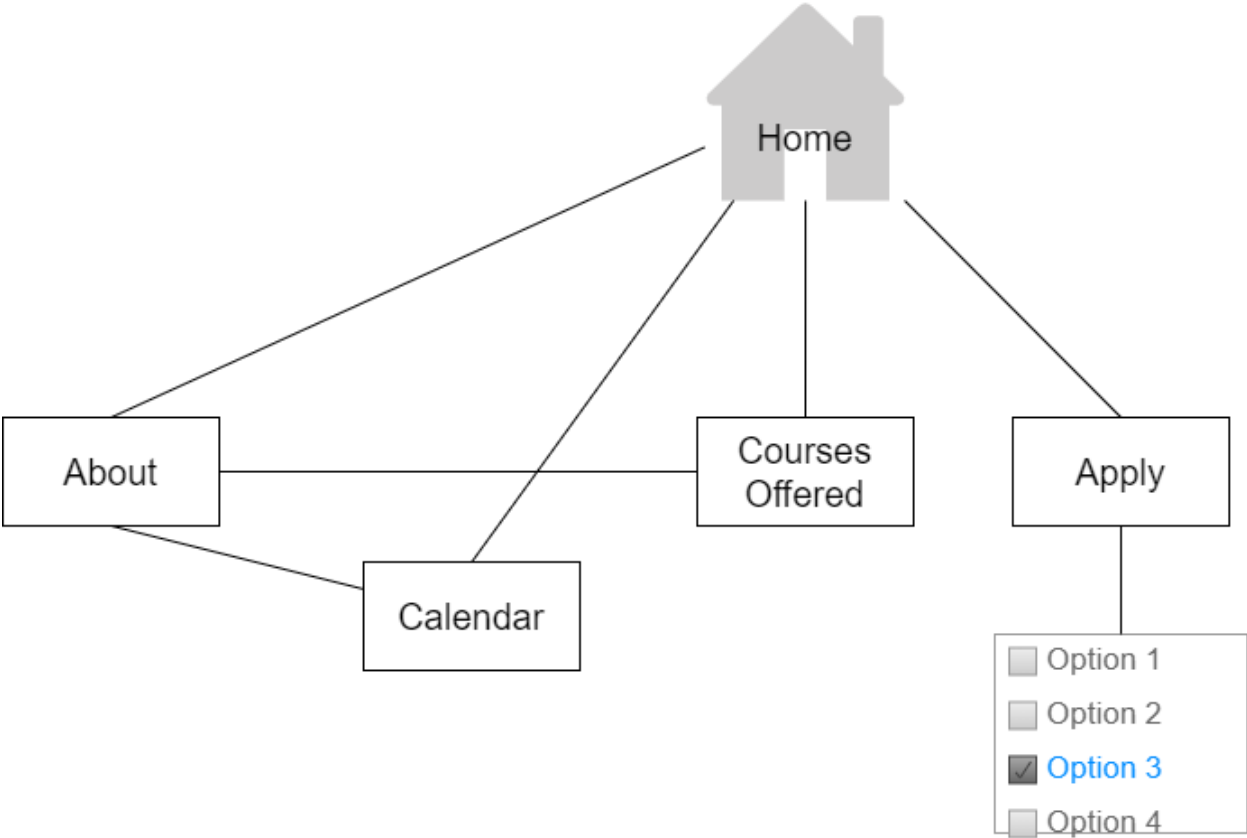

Textual information will come from a variety of resources from the University of South Carolina. This includes but is not limited to: The University of South Carolina Honors College newsletter, the current UofSC Honors College website, the UofSC course catalogue, and other campus resources as needed.

Images will be from the UofSC official logos, UofSC SCHC logos, and free stock images online.

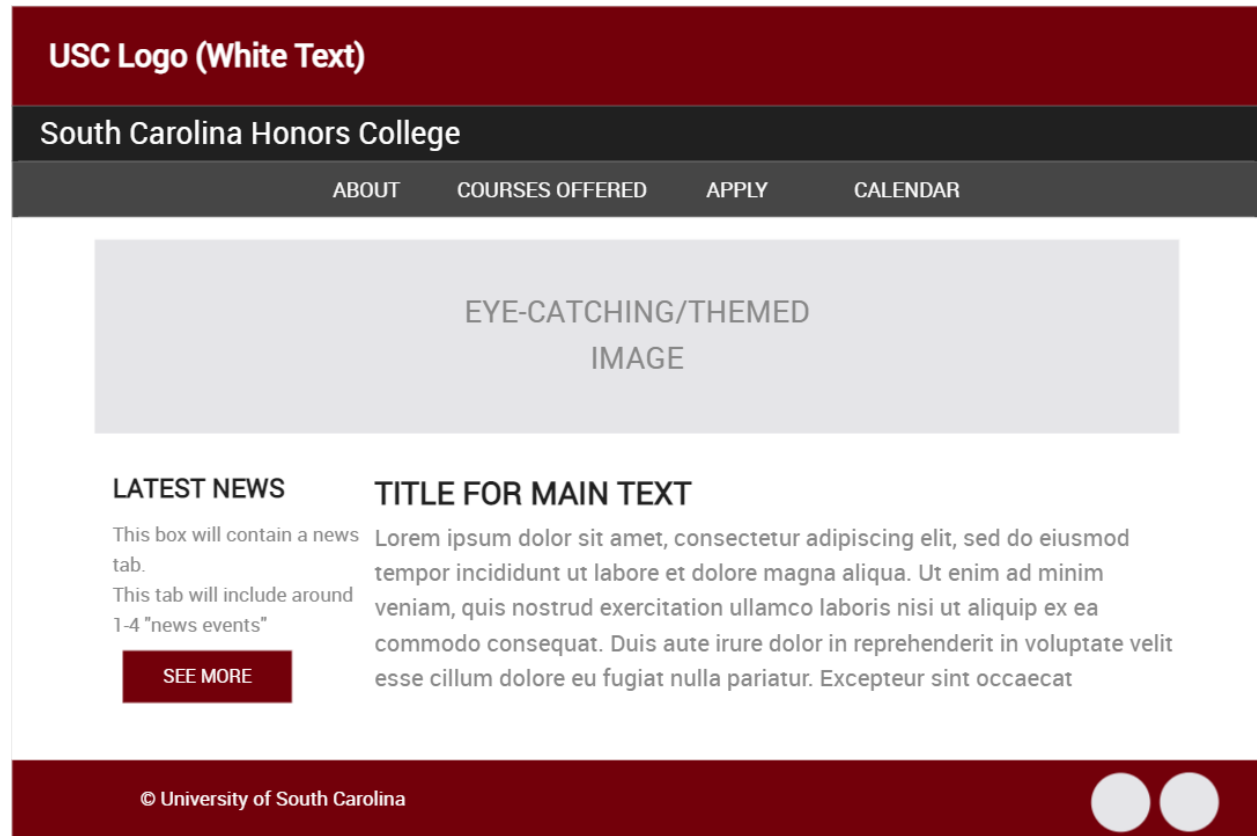

Use of Forms

I’m currently planning to implement a form through the “Apply” page, where there will be prompts for prospective students to answer as part of their application.
